

Black moon

Never before was I so disordered never before was the night so cold never before were nightmares so alive and real Never before was darkness so near never before was breathing so hard never before was the heart so cruel

Black moon
there is a light inside me where I can't get through From above, you have come to destroy our souls and wipe out the sun

Who are you to tell me that you have the power to give me the peace I need while I'm Blinded by the shine of gold smashed by the sword of power betrayed by the words of fame
