

The foreign town

I was in a far away land
Where the door of a foreign town was wide open
Everything was fascinating
But I couldn't understand the words of the people

I'm walking through the streets like a stranger
I just see the people doing their businesses and I pretend to understand what they do
My origin belongs to the past now
My memories are no longer alive, my stories are forgotten phrases

All the pearls are in vain
My smile is a fake
I played my part
But the show goes on

My head is hurting
My feelings are empty inside
All the tears have been cried
My soul is dying away

Now I'm on my own like all the time
All the people are passing by, but I lost the strenght to carry on Something heavy has come over me
I fell down on my knees and I couldn't see, cuz darkness surrounded me

Aaaa, aaaaaa

When I woke up and opened my eyes
I could see the endless clear blue sky and I hoped that I was ok
But I wasn't at the same place as before
The town was too far away, then I realized I was on the wrong way
